

FACTS

What does JMS do with your personal information?

Why?

Financial companies choose how they share your nonpublic personal information. Federal law gives consumers the right to limit some but not all sharing. Federal law also requires us to tell you how we collect, share, and protect your personal information. Please read this notice carefully to understand what we do.

What?

The types of personal information we collect and share depend on the product or service you have with us. This information can include:

- Social Security number and income
- Account balances and transaction history
- Investment experience and assets
- Driver's license or government-issued ID
- Address or email
- Date of birth or death

How?

All financial companies need to share customers' personal information to run their everyday business. In the section below, we list the reasons financial companies can share their customers' personal information; the reasons JMS chooses to share; and whether you can limit this sharing.
